Fruitful Friendship and Faith

There is no doubt concerning Paul's deep and dedicated love for the church. We see this trait in most of the letters he wrote to various congregations. Notice this in particular in 1 Thessalonians 3:2-3. The new believers were developing their FAITH and understanding of God's will. After a time of separation, Paul sent for Timothy to reconnect with the congregation so that he could strengthen and encourage them in the middle of their trials. It is interesting to consider how he went about doing this!

Living out a Christian faith in the sin-dominated culture of Thessalonica was not easy. Believers were openly persecuted for their faith in Jesus. The magnetic pull of their former lifestyle continued to tempt them. They, like many of us, were unsettled by the persistence of their trials. We see Timothy investing time and energy in his relationship with them to strengthen their faith and to encourage their faithfulness.

God never intended for us to live a Christian Life without His enablement. He has empowered us by the personification of the Holy Spirit living in us (cf. Matthew 28:18-20; 2 Corinthians 5:17; Galatians 5:22-25). We know even with the presence of the Holy Spirit, for us by ourselves, it is difficult (at best), to initiate and sustain a righteous life. Paul obviously understood this as we see his encouragement and instructions to Timothy.

We need Christian friends to live the life of God in our fallen (sinful) world. Don't fly solo! Don't try to accomplish God's will without the help of God's people. Remember, to have a friend, you need to be a friend. As you seek to serve others, pause and watch how God brings Godly friends into your life to encourage you along the way.

Because of Jesus, Jeff

We live in a culture today that tries to tear us down, break our confidence, and make us lose faith. Even though the world sees this as a negative thing: to break us as people through depression, self-doubt, and destroying our safe havens of family, friends, and community with one another. I wonder if this culture of negativity and depression in some way cannot be made a blessing by God.

Just think, “One way to define ‘a spiritual life in Christ’ is that we get so tired of and fed up with our sin-filled selves that we go on to something better, a life following Jesus.” When you are at your lowest, most spiritually dry, and deepest, darkest place, God is with you. You are not alone! Just consider 2 Corinthians 12:9b-10: “My grace is sufficient for you, for power is made perfect in weakness.’ So, I will boast all the more gladly of my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ may dwell in me. Therefore, I am content with weaknesses, insults, hardships, persecutions, and calamities for the sake of Christ; for whenever I am weak, then I am strong.”

We are never alone. God not only draws near us in our time of weakness and weariness, but his power is declared in our weakness. So, let us run to God when we are weary, let us give up our struggles, feelings, and fears to him. Let us be a congregation of people who acknowledge when we struggle with the difficulties in this life rather than pretend they are not there. Let us be completely reliant on God, lift-up each other, and rejoice as we develop a deeper and fuller life in Christ. ~ Jay
